FRIDAY, : : : : : : NOVEMBER 22, 1867

THE people of noble South Carolina have wisely abstained from participation in the mongrel election which is now in progress in that State. They have ranged themselves by their brothers of the South, and like them, have refused to vote either pro or con, upon measures which are clearly unconstitutional, arbitrary and partizan. Were the full vote of the State polled against "Convention" it would avail but little; as the negroes and imported Radicals are largely in the majority. Knowing this, the people chose the policy of inaction. Like all Southern States, and in consonance with the views of all Southern people, they indignantly spurned by their "masterly inactivity" those measures which are fraught with nothing but degradation and humiliation to a brave, conquered and oppressed people. Several of the prominent Radical journals of the North affect great enthusiasm over the results of the elections South. It is only affectation. Nothing would have pleased the Radicals better than a manifestation of great interest and a close vote upon the reconstruction question. The manhood and good sense of our people prevented this. By their action they proved their sincerity to principle and honor. Dollars nor dimes could not sway them, although no people were in greater need of the "staff of life." This action is the more heroic and praiseworthy when we consider that the military cocombs and sirraps who have been placed in command of the five Military Districts have left nostone unturned which would deprive us of even the little we have left. The civil law has been violated. Men of military education, with only a scattering knowledge of the laws of the land, have upset State governments and substituted their own ideas of taxation and of general laws instead. Of course nothing but the confusion now rampant in every military district could follow. It was a logical sequence, and surprised nobody who gave it an impartial consideration. Now that the elections are almost over in the South, and the question of "Convention" has everywhere carried by fair majorities, the first matter demanding the attention of the Southern people will be the tone and character of the hybrid legislation imposed upon them by the members recently elected to the conventions. New constitutions will be adopted. They will be submitted to the people for ratification. The larger number of the Southern States, upon a fair vote, would reject every proposition, or, perhaps, the constitutions in toto, if allowed an impartial vote. Judging by the Alabama convention, now in session, the registered voters will not be permitted this opportunity for the expression of their opinions. Already a resolution has been offered, and it will undoubtedly pass, disfranchising those voters who failed to vote upon the question of convention. This being the case, the conclusion will be the ratification of the Constitution, only those voting who voted upon the question of convention. To submit those ratified Constitutions to Congress for approval will be the next step—their votes in the next Presidential election will be too valuable to be overlooked. In fact, it is upon this political condition of the South that the Radicals look, in the issues of 1868, for success. The Constitutions approved—the South misrepresented in Congress—a vote secured in the electoral college for their candidate—would be the consummation of their present diabolical designs. Suppose this state of affairs really occur; suppose these negro constitutions meet with the approval of Congress, and that we are represented illegally, unnaturally and unconstitutionally, what then? Where is our remedy? What have we to look to? In a political sense, virtually nothing. If the great reaction which Connecticut was the first to lead in, continues and spreads as it should throughout the land, we may find the forty-first Congress disposed to relieve those who are unable, through circumstances, to relieve themselves. This is a general result of our condition. It is true. The malignant spirit developed among the negroes and the bastard whites, in the Alabama Convention, proves this. Outside the right of revolution, we have but one resource left to maintain us—to give bread and meat to our children and ourselves. Abandon entirely the cultivation of cotton. Don't raise a pound. Let no planter be deluded by the idea that because his neighbors will not cultivate the staple, its price will "go up," and he will make a profitable investment. The truth is, that the days of "King Cotton" in the South are over. His crown has been transferred to the brow of his rivals. The war has given India, Egypt and Brazil the laurels and power which were ours before the great revolutionary struggle. It is hard for planters to recognize the fact, but it is inevitable and there is no shirking it. It is really fortunate in one important respect, that there is not enough money in the South to carry on cotton planting for another year. If there was, and it could be obtained, we really believe there are those whose infatuation about cotton would lead to a continued cultivation of it. We say to the planters of the South, cultivate anything but cotton. We care not what it is, your rich soil and broad fields will remunerate you. Pecuniarily independent, in the course of a short time you will be able to control every interest of the country politically and commercially. Doing this we have only to await the course of events, develop our resources, and watch faithfully our every interest, and in time all will be well.

THE term Conservative, as applied to any portion of the Radical party, is a misnomer. In the hurry of writing, we have often inadvertently used the inconsistency ourselves, but there is no such thing as a Conservative portion of the Radical party. The Philadelphia Convention illustrated the truth of this observation, and dissipated the idea that there existed any real Conservative sentiment in the unconstitutional organization which now controls the Congress. Mr. HENRY J. RAYMOND, the author of the address of that body, could not have placed on record a more eloquent and conclusive demonstration of the infamy of Radicalism than he did in it; his paper teemed with editorials which won for it the distinction of the representative press of what were believed to be the Conservative Radicals of the North; his speeches in Congress gave hope of the existence of such an idea, but his acts and his votes demonstrated how delusive was the expectation and how base the man. His every vote was in unison with that of the extreme men of the Radical party, and illustrated a capacity for deception as criminal as it was without shame. We use Mr. RAYMOND'S history as an example, with a view of proving what we say. He is still regarded as the representative man of the class of Radicals to whom we refer, and the sentiments of all of them agree completely with those entertained by him. We might have cited the career of Mr. THURLOW WEED, who, to throw dust in the President's eyes and do a few jobs, is but practising a talent for dissimulation precisely the same. In fact we could fill the AVALANCHE with the names of leaders of this so-called Conservative branch of the Radical party who are pursuing a deceptive course of policy that is apparently fair, but which in their future operations is just as likely to extract a blush from shame. But a few days since, General SHERMAN, whom we have been ridiculously told was to be the right hand man of the President, in a violent foray on Congress, uttered sentiments of reproach to his valiant antagonists in a historic war, which proves that he has a heart as insensible to the inspirations of a generous nature, as the veriest Radical in the land. The people of the South are like unto the drowning man, and are engaged in grasping at straws. Every day the disappointment which follows the course of one man who had incited their hopes presents them a new object of delusion in the form of another and coming man, until now it is amazing to recur to the many whom they have but embraced to drop quickly, and with chagrin. But yet they go on, and military leader after military leader of the North succeed one another as the apple of their eye. y are dealing with these so-called Conservative Radicals but to be deceived. They but "keep the word of promise to our ear, and break it to our hope." The so-called Conservative Radicals are the policy portion of those men in the North. They should be designated in that way. In the event of a prominent Radical success, they would be deeply enlisted in it. They see, however, the handwriting on the wall. Those of them who believe in the weakness of the policy of the Radicals in the North, and who are sensible of the antagonism to a negro power in the nation—demonstrated in the recent Northern elections—will unite with the real Conservatives of the land; whilst others of them, who believe that Radicalism, with its abuse of suffrage to a negro domination, will succeed in the next elections, will be found with them—negro principles and all—full hand in hand. Let us hear nothing more of Conservative Radicals. They are policy men, and in that is our only hope of their separation from this robber band.

Charles Dickens arrived in Boston day before yesterday.

John Mitchel will institute a suit against General John A. Dix for false imprisonment during the war.

General Steedman and Mr. Blair have declined the War Office, and General Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, is now spoken of.

On dit, that the Hon. Emerson Etheridge is to be married in a few weeks to a young lady of Dresden, Tennessee.

General Pope's last exploit was the removal of an Atlanta policeman for making a negro voter behave himself at the polls. Pope called it "improper interference with voters at the polls."

The trot between the stallions George Wilkes and Fearnaught, at Boston, on the 18th, for $5,000, was won by Wilkes in three straight heats. Time, 2:31¼, 2:32½, 2:33¼. The track was muddy.

A special says General Sherman is going to Washington, it is said, to perform the duties of General-in-Chief during General Grant's Secretaryship.

In Chicago, on the 19th, Joe Coburn and Mike McCoole signed articles of agreement to fight on the 27th of May next, within fifty miles of Cincinnati, for $5,000 and the championship of America.

A concerted movement will be made by the merchants and business men of Louisville to insist on a reduction of rents from thirty to fifty per cent., to take effect on the commencement of the new year.

Pedestrianism seems to be all the rage just now. A chap named Shepard was to start from Chicago yesterday, on a wager of $2,000 that he will walk to New Orleans, a distance of 1,200 miles, in twenty days.

General Imboden filed an application for a writ of mandamus in the United States Circuit Court, Tuesday, forbidding General Schofield and all other persons from interfering with him in casting his vote at any election.

Two young men of highly respectable connections, named William Meeker and Caleb Dingwell, have been arrested at Newark, New Jersey, on a charge of garroting Mr. Beach and robbing him of valuables worth $400.

A special says the President, it is said, intends to direct General Grant to cause to be mustered out of the service General Howard and General Gregory, both of the Freedmen's Bureau. General Howard will still hold his position in the regular army, but General Gregory goes out of the service altogether.

The Owyhee (Nebraska) Avalanche reports that scouts have found what is deemed positive evidence that Mrs. Deuville, reported a few days since as probably carried off a prisoner by the Indians, had been burned to death by the fiends at fifteen miles from where her husband was shot. The remains of a fire, human bones, and several locks of hair corresponding with Mrs. Denville's were found scattered about.

The Secretary of the Southern Asylum land company writes from Chicago that the Central agency is now established at Chicago; that infinitely better opportunities for disposing of Southern lands are presented there than in Memphis, cholera and yellow fever compelling a suspension of business in this city. The date of the drawing is to be fixed for January. The address of the company's rooms nine and ten, 165 Washington street, Chicago.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Removal of Louisiana State Officers.

Meeting of the Fortieth Congress.

The Tennessee Delegation Admitted.

Lively Debate on Giving Them Seats.

Proposed Impeachment of Mr. Adams.

Other Important Resolutions Introduced.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, November 21.

Senate motto-day, there being a quorum present, Mr. Sumner introduced a resolution that equal rights be extended to negroes in political matters in the District of Columbia. Senator Dever Edwards offered a resolution that the Government pledge itself not to tamper with the public debt. Laid over. After further unimportant business this body adjourned over till Monday.

House met with a quorum. The galleries were crowded, and the excitement was great. Thad. Stevens was in his seat looking well enough. The subject of the admission of Tennessee members came up and was discussed for some time.

The Democrats spoke of the government of Tennessee as most absurd and disgusting, and made strong efforts to prevent the admission of members, especially Mr. Stokes, whom they denounced in the severest terms. The Radicals were clamorous to receive the Tennessee delegation without referring to credentials. Finally the Tennessee delegation, except Butler, came up to the Speaker's desk and took the oath. Mr. Butler's credentials were referred. Mr. Cleaver, delegate from Mexico, was not admitted, his seat being contested. His case was referred to the Committee on Elections. Delegates from Montana and Washington were sworn in.

Mr. Wilson, from the Judiciary Committee, stated that the report on the impeachment could not be submitted until Monday, which was accepted.

Mr. Robinson, of New York, submitted resolutions reciting that Mr. Adams, Minister to England, has been charged with neglect of duty, in failing to secure the rights of American citizens, and instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire into such charges, and if found to be true, that articles of impeachment be presented against him.

No action was taken thereon, and the House adjourned till Monday.

On motion of Mr. Blair, the Committee on Ways and Means was directed to inquire into the expediency of repealing the cotton tax.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, November 21.

The following removals were made to-day, the incumbents being considered impediments to reconstruction: Albert Voorhies, Lieutenant Governor, removed—Jacob Hawkins, appointed; H. H. Hardy, Secretary of State, removed—J. P. G. Fitkin, appointed; Adam Griffin, State Treasurer, removed—E. Jenkins, appointed; Hyperite Perah, Auditor of public accounts, removed—J. R. Syrhers, appointed; R. M. Tucker, Superintendent of public education, removed—John McNair, appointed; Henry Bonnett, State tax collector, Fourth District, removed—George W. Kendall, appointed. Also Charles Deleny, Coroner of the parish of Orleans, is removed, and W. H. Hire appointed. By special order Hire will act as Sheriff until the new appointment can be qualified as by law required. All done by J. A. Moore, Brevet Major General commanding, etc.

At an extra session of the City Council to-night, the Mayor submitted the report of the city Treasurer, showing that there are still in circulation $4,500,000 city notes.

CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, November 21.

A fearful railroad collision, followed by fire, occurred at Lockland, Ohio, to-day, resulting in the death of four ladies and one gentleman.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A Card.

WASHITTA MILLS, NEW BEDFORD, Massachusetts, November 1, 1867.

J. Merritt, Esq., President Southwestern Freight and Cotton Press Company, Memphis, Tenn.:

To-day we ask to supply of one hundred bales of cotton by your line to these mills. Have received up to this date 1,000 bales. The cotton is of desirable staple. Manufacturers will soon find out that it is for their interest to keep themselves supplied with cotton from the South, and we shall do our share in consuming this year, I think 1,000 or 2,000 bales. To the lover to Memphis we pay $1 per bale freight, and to the lover to Chattanooga we pay $1 50 per bale; the latter is cheaper for the reason that it is shipped in the natural order and runs less than if it came by vessel from New Orleans to New York or Boston.

THOMAS BENNETT, Jr.

NEW YORK, November 2, 1867.

J. Merritt, Esq., President Southwestern Freight and Cotton Press Company, St. Louis, Mo.:

DEAR SIR—We are to-day in receipt of the first lot of cotton delivered by you in Chattanooga, consigned to us. It is in fine very best order. When all our shippers learn the benefits of compressing, they will no doubt very generally patronize you. Shippers in lots to Liverpool to-day get freights one-third penny less on account of your compression. Insurance and picking is generally needed, and it saves one-half freight on what is taken out in the eighth of an inch. We have taken the same interest in all cotton that we do in our own, and we trust you will realize your charges in low tare all will be inclined to patronize you.

Very truly yours,

J. Merritt, Esq., President Southwestern Freight and Cotton Press Company, St. Louis, Mo.:

DEAR SIR—We have procured an 8 inch pump receiving cotton from Memphis by your line, and as it comes to hand as promptly and in such perfect order, I consider our acknowledgment of the fact, although unsolicited, a matter due to you. We have taken into our mills the eighth bale after shipment from Memphis by the same hauling hands, and have not found a pound of damage. The cotton came to hand by the 20th, by which time we have received cotton heretofore, has been thirteen to twenty days. We have never received cotton in such good order before.

Very respectfully,
E. CRANDELL, Treasurer.

GALLAWAY, RHEA & CLUSKEY.

INDICTED.—Oliver Thomas, for grand larceny. Was sent to jail yesterday. The grand jury found a true bill against him.

RAILROAD ELECTION.—The election for directors of the Memphis and Little Rock railroad has resulted in the election of Messrs. R. C. Brinkley, James Shorter, H. R. Edmondson, James M. McCombs and W. A. Woodruff.

RECOVERED.—Most of the goods stolen from Mitchell's furniture store were recovered yesterday at a house on Shelby street. The person at whose house they were found did not know the man's name who left them there, but said he could recognize him. He has not done it yet.

MONEY THIEF.—Frances McKinney, a saddle-colored female, swore out a warrant yesterday, before Squire Miller, charging Jim Adams, a negro, with stealing her pocketbook, containing a five dollar bill. He was sent to jail until to-day, when he will have a hearing.

FILTERING.—Martha, a negro woman, was arrested yesterday on the charge of general pilfering, from the house of Dr. McMillan, No. 100 Madison street. The last article she gobbled was a set of waffle irons. She was sent to jail to await a hearing to-day.

IMPERTINENT.—A negro named Spencer Murray insulted Mr. John McLaughlin, who keeps a grocery on the corner of Linden and Causey. Mr. McLaughlin knocked the negro down, for which he was arrested, and no doubt will have to pay for it.

THE TAX SALE.—This sale commenced yesterday morning at ten o'clock, in front of the Court House, on Second street. There was but a slim attendance. The sale will be continued to-day and resumed again on Saturday, at the same time and place.

ELECTION.—At a meeting, held November 16th of the Atlanta base ball club, the following officers were elected for the season: Louis Daltoff, President; H. Frank, Vice President; J. Seligman, Treasurer; S. Daltoff, Secretary; H. M. Mendle, First Captain; Joe Stindler, Second Captain; J. Levy, First Director.

THE BLACK CROOK.—In the Chancery Court yesterday morning the Chancellor announced that he was not as yet thoroughly satisfied as to the question of jurisdiction, and that he would read over the papers in the case, and consult some further authorities on the subject, and deliver his opinion this morning.

A GOOD MOVEMENT.—Our old friend, Colonel James Brown, of Oxford, Mississippi, proposes to rebuild the Mississippi levees in Tunica county. Mississippi, at his own expense, if the State will lease to him the work for a term of years. He says he can do it for $1,000 per mile, and will guarantee to keep them in repair for ten years. This is eminently a Southern enterprise, and as such should be fostered and patronized by our citizens, farmers and business men generally, and from the known energy and commercial ability of the men at the head of it, we know our merchants will not be disappointed in one iota of what the company undertake. The rates, bills of lading, and all the necessary information, can be had by application at the railroad office, or from W. J. Ross, the Superintendent.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—This body had a meeting on the 14th. The following is an epitome of their proceedings:

The resolution for an examination of the warrants in the hands of the County Trustee was reconsidered.

Commissioners were appointed to examine into the necessity of building a bridge over Big creek; also, one over Nonconnah creek.

Commissioners were then appointed to contract for a bridge over Hayne's branch, and another over Cypress creek, on the Horn Lake road.

J. C. Jacobi was removed from the superintendency of the Raleigh road, and Peter Mitchell appointed in his place.

E. G. Weston was appointed overseer on the Pigeon Roost road, from Mrs. Ruff's residence to the State line, and Howell Douglas was appointed overseer on the same road, from Lemaster's lane to Mrs. Ruff's residence.

Commissioners were appointed to contract for the building of three bridges on the Pigeon Roost road, one for building a bridge over Black creek, on the Horn Lake road; also for building a bridge over Royster's creek, on the road leading from Porters mills to Cahe; also for building a bridge over Cypress creek, on the old Raleigh road. A jury was appointed to examine the propriety of laying out a road, commencing on the Lamar and Raleigh plank road, near the Cherry estate, and running north through the lands of A. J. Keller, W. J. Maddox, and A. H. Warford, to Wolf river, and report at the January term.

John Manning was appointed overseer on the Memphis and Louisville road, in Mr. Thomas Waddell's gate. The resignations of several road overseers were read and accepted, when the august body adjourned.

THE DETECTIVES.

A Gentleman Robbed of $1,000—The Robbers Known to the Detectives.

They are Arrested and Allowed to Go Free.

$500 of the Money Given to the German—He is Sent Away to Avoid the Grand Jury.

We heard the particulars of an affair yesterday, which to say the least about a parallel Commissioner Beaumont and his detective again before this community in a most unenviable light. We had hoped that the boys connected with this department of the police force had determined to do half way right, and that we would be saved the unpleasant necessity, as impartial and honest journalists, from again exposing their misdeeds, and holding them up to public scorn. The circumstances of the case, as related to us yesterday, on unimpeachable authority, are about as follows: It appears that about two weeks ago, a German named Gustavus Buchalder, a tanner, living on the Tennessee river, about one hundred and fifty miles from here, came to the city for the purpose of buying dry hides, and shipping them to his tan yard. He had made his purchases, and was about starting for home, via the Memphis and Ohio road. He had about one thousand dollars left over after making his purchases, which he had upon his person, when he went to the depot. He was accompanied to the train by a friend of his, Mr. Schaybly, who keeps a hide and leather store on Adams street, between Front and Main. The two gentlemen went upon the platform to wait until the train was ready to start. They had been there but a few minutes when some one cried out "all aboard." They started for the nearest car, but were met on the platform of it by one of the thieves, who said, "gentlemen, not this car,—next." They then started for the car below, and when near it, Buchalder was set upon by five men —two behind and three in front, who made quick work of him, and robbed him of his $1,000. He was not garoted or handled roughly, only crowded in between the "mob." As soon as he entered the car, he missed his pocket book, and immediately jumped from the car, and the first officer he met on the platform, after the robbery, was Colonel Beaumont. He told him of the occurrence, and Beaumont advised him to lay over that night, and he would endeavor to recover his money. Mr. Buchalder agreed to do so, and he was driven by Colonel Beaumont to Police Headquarters in his own buggy. He stayed in town until the morning of the following day, when Colonel Beaumont came to him and handed him $50, telling him that was all he could recover of the stolen $1,000, and advised him to go home, as he could do no more for him. He had the thieves arrested, but had to let them run; he showed them to Buchalder, but said he could do nothing with them. The detectives also told him in the presence of witnesses that they had arrested four of the thieves in a house of ill fame; that they had saved the $50 for him, and that was all they could do. These are the facts of the case, and consult some for the authorities on the subject, and deliver his opinion this morning.

$50 of the Money Given to the German—He is Sent Away to Avoid the Grand Jury.

A Man Murdered a Few Steps from His Own Door.

He is Robbed of $2,700.

Last Monday evening, about dark, Mr. Frank Rawles, of Okolona, Mississippi, received a dispatch from Memphis, requesting him to come to this city immediately and settle a claim which he owed here, and which would require the sum of $2,700 to satisfy. The train on the Mobile and Ohio railroad passes Okolona about nine o'clock, and Mr. Rawles prepared himself to take it and come to this city. He procured the money, and about nine o'clock he started for the depot, but he never got there. He had not gone more than a dozen yards from his own gate, when he was shot down and robbed of the money. The weapon used was a double-barreled shot gun, and both barrels must have been discharged at him, sixteen buckshot being found in his person. He was shot through the head, and died almost instantly. The noise of the shooting alarmed the neighborhood, and on hearing the report Mr. Rawles's wife was found lying on his back perfectly dead, and his money gone. The affair caused a great deal of excitement, but no clue as yet has been obtained as to who was the cowardly assassin. This is beyond question one of the most atrocious cases of deliberate cowardly murder, which has been on our province to chronicle for a long time, and we hope the miscreant who committed the deed will be run to earth, and receive the reward due his crime.

THE WILMINGTON MURDERER.

They Don't Appear to Want Him in Ohio—The Probable Cause.

The negro who was arrested here some days ago for the killing of the cashier of the First National bank of Wilmington, Ohio, is still in jail here, and the persons interested in that town are seemingly to be over-anxious to have him returned. The bank authorities offered a reward of five hundred dollars for his arrest. Has the payment of this reward anything to do with their supineness in in regard to the matter? Sheriff Winters never knew until yesterday that such reward had been offered; and in regard to there not being sufficient evidence to convict him, we are informed that there is evidence enough in Memphis at the present him to hang him. He has confessed the murder, and related the circumstances attending it, as detailed in the AVALANCHE some days ago. This is the first trip up the river since the deed was committed, he having spent the time in New Orleans and on the coast. The following is the dispatch received yesterday of the subject by the sheriff:

CINCINNATI, November 19

P. M. Winters, Sheriff:

Since Palmer escaped a most material witness has been killed by Indians, and another has left the country. Counsel advises me that conviction of the higher grade of his crime would now be doubtful. Other friends advise not to procure a requisition, as the man arrested may not be the guilty one. Write me at once, and send me your charges.

C. M. BOSWORTH.

PERSONAL.—Mr. F. S. Davis, of the First National bank, has returned home after an absence of several months.

We met on the street, yesterday, Mr. John Ainslie, of the Appeal, who has been absent in New Orleans for a couple of week on business. He looks as if his trip had been one of pleasure.

Mr. D. H. Pegar, the railroad agent, who has been absent in Louisiana and Texas for a month or two, has returned.

The day before yesterday we chronicled the illness of Miss Kolina L. Toney. We are sorry this morning to announce her death. She was buried yesterday afternoon. We extend to the survivors of this family our sympathy; indeed death has been among them, for during the last few years three brothers and a sister have been gathered to their fathers.

We were pleased to meet, yesterday, Mr. Sam. Belshoover, of the St. Louis Republican. He left for Vicksburg in the afternoon.

Mr. M. Mumford, of the Covington (Tipton county) Record is in town, and staying at the Worsham House. He is here on business connected with his paper.

Mr. J. Marmaduke, brother of the distinguished Confederate General of that name, is in town, and staying at the Overton Hotel.

Lotta leaves here on Saturday, for New Orleans, to fulfil an engagement at De Bar's St. Charles Theater; from thence she goes to Mobile.

Mr. Henry A. Muller, of the firm of Muller & Wood, merchant tailors of St. Louis, is in the city, staying at the Worsham House. He will remain here a few days.

We are sorry this morning to record the death of Mrs. Sarah Pope, relict of Willis Pope, of Columbus, Mississippi. She was a most estimable lady, loved and respected by all.

THE OPERA HOUSE TROUPE.—Last night was indeed a gala night at this house. A finer and more select audience of ladies and gentlemen but seldom assembles together to enjoy the pleasures of the drama, than were congregated last night in the spacious dancing saloon of this splendid house. Mirth and pleasure ruled the hour, and the spirit must indeed be hard to satisfy, that was not pleased with the arrangements of last night. We dare not enter upon the theme of the beauty and loveliness there assembled, for it would be a task difficult for us to say that the ladies all looked their best, and the brilliancy of their charms beautified and added to the splendor of delightful before our enraptured gaze. The supper was got up regardless of expense, and was like all Gaynes suppers, good—excellent. The dancing was kept up until the "wee sma hours ayont the twal," when the party separated to their homes, thoroughly satisfied that the Gaynes troupe hops are great institutions.

Pratt & Tuckwood.—It is a pleasure, when we are called upon to commend such sterling firms as the above. Established in Memphis for years, the members of this firm have built up a commercial reputation second to none in the city. The stock they have at present on hand at their establishment, No. 13 Union street, in the Lee Block, is one of the largest and best selected in the city. Everything which enters into the consumption of the household, all that the grocer or housekeeper needs, is here in great abundance, and at rates as cheap as the same goods can be purchased for any place in the country. To our planter friends we would say, consult your own interests and call and see the stock of Price & Treadwell, No. 13, Union street.

THE COURTS.

CHANCERY COURT—William M. Smith, Chancellor. The orders and decrees entered on yesterday are as follows:

Wm. and Wm. Wynne. Order of reference.
Hamilton vs. Hamilton et al. Order of reference.
Hamilton vs. Same. Order of reference.
Hamilton vs. Same. Order of reference.
Ewell vs. Ewell. Order for reference.
Ewell vs. Same. Order for reference.
Baldwin vs. Rogers. Pro confesso.
Hamilton vs. Same. Pro confesso.

In the case of J. M. Toomey et al vs John Eaton, Jr., et al, the demurrer of defendants was overruled, and leave given to answer. The complainants allege in their bill that they are stockholders in the Memphis Ferry, and charge that John Eaton and L. B. Eaton have fraudulently credited contributions as their own capital stock, and also money received for advertisements; that the assets of the company are $19,100, and liabilities $18,185, and owing to the management of the defendants they are in danger of incurring great loss and liability; that John Eaton claims stock to the amount of $13,466 70, and L. B. Eaton $10,000 81. The complainants ask that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the business; that the assets be sold, and that the joint stock company be dissolved, and for other relief, etc.

Chancellor Smith announced that in the case of McDonough vs Dargin he was not ready to give a decision, but would take it up Saturday or on Monday. He was inclined to believe, from the investigation he had given it, that he had not jurisdiction, but that he would set on this in a day or two, and also on the exceptions to defendant's answer; consequently the "Black Cricket" must remain in chancery for some time longer.

The Chancellor also notified counsel in the case of alleged contempt of J. B. Bingham, Deputy United States Marshal, in forcibly taking property out of the hands of the Sheriff, and ejecting his watchman from the premises, that he would prefer postponing the investigation of the case until Saturday or Monday. Numerous affidavits have been filed in the case, and we presume this case will settle the respective rights of Marshals and Sheriffs as to future cases.

LAW COURT—James O. Pierce, Judge, etc. The cases set for trial on yesterday were disposed of. The list of cases set for to-day is as follows:

136. McLean vs. Sale et al.
137. Pugh vs. Memphis & Ohio Railroad Co.
138. Same vs. Same.

Should the above cases be disposed of at an early hour, attorneys can execute writs of inquiry until the adjournment of court.

CRIMINAL COURT.—William Hunter, Judge, etc. The murder case of the State vs Joseph Donlon will continue several days. The examination of witnesses commenced on yesterday. The prisoner stands indicted for the murder of his wife some months since. The theory of the defense is insanity on the part of the defendant.

CRIMINAL COURT.—George W. Waldran, Judge, etc. Meets to-day, at the usual hour. The November term (law side) will commence on Monday, which will be motion day. On Tuesday next the trial docket will be called, and cases will be set for trial on Wednesday. The criminal side of the court will adjourn to court in course in a few days.

THE ST. LOUIS MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—We have never yet known an individual, society or corporation that had achieved success, and its concomitant greatness, but that he or it was made the target at which the more unsuccessful aspirants to fame and fortune aimed their shafts of malice. The higher and more prominent he becomes, the more venomous and embittered are the onslaughts made upon him. So it is with corporations; the last get the guerdon of success, and to it, and all at once it has barking and snapping at its heels all of the rivals who have been compelled, from want of the ability which has raised and enriched it, to occupy a secondary place. We have been led to these remarks from hearing for a month or so past exaggerated stories afloat in circulation in regard to the losses incurred by the St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company. We write plainly, and we hope to be understood. Extraordinary or large, and such as they are the company have met every one of them promptly, and could do so to their views, and bereavement as large. The following will explain itself:

ST. LOUIS, November 19, 1867.

T. Jones, Jr., Esq., Editor, &c., New York:

DEAR SIR—My attention has been called to an article, on page 627 of October number of the "Insurance Monitor and Wall Street Review," which seems to require notice from us; but only to assure you that, no matter from whence your information comes, no fact is stated in it. On the contrary the statement is grossly false and slanderous, both as to the amount of loss and the locality to which the chief business is confined.

Very Respectfully,
[Signed] WM. T. SELBY, Secretary.

The following explains the above letter:

"INSURANCE JOURNAL."—We regret that the St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company, of St. Louis, Missouri, has lost over $250,000 by yellow fever in the summer months. Nearly all the property in Mississippi, the localities to which their business is chiefly confined."

MISFORTUNES TO THE MANY, LUCK TO THE FEW.—People groan beneath burdens of enormous taxation imposed by Radical masters of Reconstruction. Three per centum—the amount of State and county and city taxation—is bad enough, especially when Uncle Sam steps in with insatiable exactions levied upon everything that we eat, drink, wear and think. These unheard-of public burdens, more intolerable than any with impoverish subjects of remorseless tyranny, compel a distribution of property. The great body of the people suffer by the pressure; but the many have to succumb to the advantage of ephemeral calamities. Yellow fever, Rockvillism, cholera, Brownlow, valuelessness of cotton, Barbour Lewis, bankruptcy and loyal Leaguer, while lessening the price of property, enable the poor to buy it. A very small sum—smaller than ever before required for such a purpose—will secure an admirable residence lot to-day at two o'clock. The property distributed is just beyond the southern limits of the city. The lots are fifty by one hundred and fifty feet. Colonel Monsarrat is the salesman.

BENHAM, HENDRIX & CO.—This establishment, located at No. 10 Adams street, has long since taken a front rank in our commercial circles. Mr. Geo. Benham will be recollected as formerly connected with the produce house of Huis & Co., and Mr. Hendrix as a member of the firm Hendrix & Walker, a house well and favorably known before the war. These gentlemen were in the war, and Mr. Hendrix suffer severely, having made as gallant soldiers as they were prompt and honorable business men. They have now in successful operation a large receiving establishment, in connection with which is a wholesale foreign and domestic liquor department, in which some of the best liquors in the city can be found. They have also on hand a splendid stock of tobacco, cigars and case goods, which can be obtained from them at as reasonable rates as they can be procured elsewhere. Our friends will remember them when they wish to purchase.

NOTICE.—Mr. Thomas Leonard will please call on me, otherwise I shall be compelled to send an officer for him, under the laws of this State.

WM. P. COWLES, No. 286 Front street.

TO THE PUBLIC.—An article appeared in the CLEVELAND HERALD of Sunday morning, November 17, 1867, over my signature, reflecting on Mr. Thomas Leonard. This is to inform everybody that I freely retract all of said article, the same having been written and published by me at a time when my mind was unbalanced. I now make a full and complete retraction, the said Mr. Thomas Leonard having, to my knowledge, demeaned himself honorably, both in public and private life, and he does not owe me a dime but what he pays me.

WM. P. COWLES.

H. Kremer wishes it distinctly understood that this is no clearing sale, as he intends to continue, as he has done for the last seventeen years, to do business in this city, but will sell his elegant stock of fine goods at such prices as will insure quick sales and the reduction of his stock.

COTTON FACTORS.—It is with much pleasure that we call the attention of our readers to the card of J. H. Cash & Co., 226 Front street. These gentlemen we well know in our midst, and in fact throughout the entire cotton belt, and as business men have earned the respect and confidence of all with whom they have had business. Mr. Cash is an old citizen, and has been in the cotton business for many years and knows all the ins and outs of it, and no word we could say would enhance the opinion of those who know him, but to those who do not we say you cannot make his acquaintance too soon.

THE BELLE MEMPHIS.—This first class saloon, which has been closed for some time, is again open and in full blast, under the superintendence of Sam. Harmon, and with such guidance it is sure to prove a success. Mr. Harmon intends to set a fine lunch each morning, and we can assure our readers that the best brands of liquors are to be found at the Belle Memphis. Presiding behind the bar, and ready to do the agreeable to all comers, will be found Johnny Cheek, a gentleman well known for his qualities as a first class barkeeper as he is for the possession of all the traits of a gentleman. Go and see him. 4t

MAGNIFICENT ESTABLISHMENT.—There is on exhibition at the confectionary store of B. Rocco, corner of Main and Adams streets, one of the most beautiful pieces of workmanship we have ever seen—a splendid palace, constructed in a most ingenious and elegant manner, of candy. It occupies the whole show window, and is one of the most beautiful and attractive features of that portion of the city. Large crowds are attracted to this place to look at the palace, and the ladies, as well as the gentlemen, are loud in their praises of it, and when they enter the store they do not fail to find the largest and best selected stock of confectionaries in the city. Every thing in the confectioner's line will always be found here at the most reasonable rates, and of the very best quality. Families supplied with ice cream and other delicacies on the shortest notice. Still the factory of the Treasury persevers in issuing fifty or sixty millions of currency annually, when, if he was a practical merchant, having at heart the true and abiding interests of the country, he would, at once, see that not five times that amount would find employment. Instead of contracting the amount of greenbacks, now in circulation, the National Bank issues should be called in and legal tender notes substituted. They are far better, and command the public confidence. Let Congress, at once, authorize the issue of legal tenders, or gentlemen grow content greenbacks, could be issued in lieu of all—in fact the interest of the public, duty and patriotism demands that the currency be placed, at once, on a specie basis. A large amount of bonds, too, would furnish circulation at the same time and reduce interest twenty-five millions per annum in gold. The National debt is enormous, beyond the comprehension of ordinary calculation, and to attempt to pay it by taxation, even in a hundred years, is simply ridiculous. Secretary McCulloch has no material diminished it, in the last three years, with every means of revenue at his command; hence, there is little hope that he can do better for the future. As in the case of the issue of legal tender greenbacks, and degree see their value in gold, as they will only take the place of gold interest bearing bonds, and will therefore rather increase their value. Besides, such an increased issue of paper money, say five hundred millions more than the amount now in circulation, will fall short of the paper money requisite now and exchange obligations to circulation before the war. Hence, gold can, periods, private and all sorts of banks then had the money of the monetary circulation, and, in the magazine, went far beyond all the Government has ever put forth. Paper money then was not received at its value by citizens, hence was an unknown why it should now, when there is such a universal demand for it. Let Mr McCulloch stop his contractions at once, and commence issuing up the dies and plates, and issue legal tenders. This policy, we are confident, is the correct one and will insure the approval of all financial men.

Gold and New York was quiet at 138½. In the market here, there were light, wide fluctuations in value by retail dealers, hence was an increase in the amount of currency in

ELOPEMENT IN HIGH LIFE.

The Ward of a Wealthy Wine Merchant Elopes with a Dry Goods Clerk.

From the Chicago Times, November 14:

To a superficial observer, last evening was an unusually quiet one. The tranquil moon and the lesser luminaries looked down upon a city apparently undisturbed by commotions of any kind. But the greatest excitements often make the least visible sign; and deep heart-throbs from love or hate, the intensest anxieties and the greatest domestic discords or afflictions, are often endured without bringing the smallest ripple to the surface. So, often when the city seems the most quiet, could the veil be lifted, these private passions, griefs, hopes, fears and kindred emotions would be seen working strongest.

Such was the case in one family, at least, in this goodly city, and the night was fraught to them with events big with importance. It was a very mild evening, such as the principal actors in all "Gretna Green" affairs proverbially choose; just the kind of a night when meddlesome papas, mamas, or grandmas, should be on the lookout for an escapade. Unfortunately, owing to the reticence of the police, the names of the parties to this "owre true tale" could not be learned. It was a delicate affair, and policemen, always gallant, could easily be induced to shield, as far as in their power, the parties from the curious gaze of the public. The facts of the case are substantially as follows: A well-to-do wine merchant in this city has had, for some months past, as a member of his happy household, a young lady required to be very beautiful and accomplished, to whom he stood in the double relation of brother-in-law and guardian. She had also the additional attraction of a snug little fortune in her own right, which her guardian held in trust until she should attain her majority. With such a combination of attractions the natural sequence followed; suitors became too abundant for the peace of mind of the guardian. As is invariably the case, his fair ward became stowed her smiles and her heart upon the very one of all others whom he most disapproved. The favored swain is understood to be a likely young clerk, employed in a dry goods store in the city, but without the slightest pretension to any fortune further than the receipt of a comfortable salary. This of itself was an insurmountable barrier to the union of the enamored couple, and the flat of the guardian went forth: The young man was forbidden the house. His ward submitted very meekly to the decree, too meekly in fact; she was not heart-broken enough, and his suspicions were aroused, and for several weeks a close espionage was kept upon her movements. But, by her dutiful conduct, he was at last thrown off his guard, and last evening he relaxed his usual vigilance, and was out for the evening attending some public meeting. On his return home, the bird had flown. Soon as possible, the police were made acquainted with the nature of his trouble, but it was too late. The departing trains were watched by the ever-vigilant police, but the "two souls with but a single thought" had made their escape good. It was supposed they had taken an early evening train out of the city, but not the slightest clue was obtained to the direction they had chosen, and before their escape was discovered, they were, without doubt, many miles away. Before leaving, the young lady had taken sufficient money—some $400 it is alleged—for their immediate wants, from the desk of her exacting guardian, undoubtedly supposing that he was amply indemnified for the loss. This may have been the real secret of his great anxiety for the capture of the couple. Be that as it may, there can be no doubt that, before their escape was discovered, the young man had acquired the legal right to monopolize both her charms and her fortune.

REMARKABLE CASE OF RECOVERY.

$12,931 Recovered After Having Been Missing since 1864.

A Dream the Means of Bringing About the Result.

From the Lafayette (Indiana) Journal, November 17:

Our readers are all doubtless familiar with the circumstances attending the loss of $12,931, in December, 1864, by James S. Breckenridge, a stock dealer. The circumstances are briefly these: Mr. Breckenridge left Indianapolis with the money in a valise on the 12:30 p.m. train. On arriving at Thorntown he saw his brother in a crowd and got out to speak to him, leaving the valise in the car. Before he could get on to the train again it started. He at once telegraphed to Lafayette—the wires not working to Stockwell—to Mr. J. M. Kerper, Assistant Superintendent of the Lafayette and Indianapolis road, to be at the depot, get the money and send it down on the next train. The valise was found to be all right, and the money safe. Upon Mr. Breckenridge receiving the valise at Clark's Hill, where it had been sent, he found the money gone. Mr. Leonidas Loveiace, who was connected with the railroad office at that place, was arrested, tried and acquitted upon the charge of stealing it. There the matter dropped, remained a mystery, had the guilty party been an expert thief, might have continued so. But one of the persons who was present at the opening of the valise, soon after its arrival at this place, dreamed, a few nights ago, a dream, in which he saw a person standing behind him on that occasion, whom he had never been able to recollect before. He at once communicated the fact to interested parties, and detectives were put upon the track of the newly suspected person. It was found that he had not only loaned Messrs. Earl & Hatcher, of this city, $3,000, but had, through another member of his family, deposited $9,000 in Government bonds for safe keeping in the National State Bank. This so fastened his guilt that he was confronted with the matter, and made a full confession. At the time of the discovery so terrible to him, he was attending school in a neighboring town. Mr. Breckenridge has recovered all his money, with the exception of $631. With this the young man has purchased a house and lot in this city, which is good for the remaining portion. He also gave his notes, payable in five and ten years, for the interest. This was all done under the impression that he was not to be prosecuted, but it seems that Mr. Loveiace and his brother, who suffered all the expense and mortification of a trial for his offense, were not willing he should go unpunished. He was therefore arrested yesterday afternoon, and is now in the county jail.

This is a very sad case. The guilty party is only little rising twenty-one years of age, has hitherto borne a good character, and occupied responsible positions in Lafayette. His personal appearance is prepossessing, and we but express the opinion of all who have seen him and know him, in saying that he was doubtless overtaken by a sudden temptation, such as but few men have to contend with, and which, alas! he was not strong enough to resist. He was an employe at the railroad office—poor, proud, aspiring. The money lay before him. There was no eye but that of God to see him. Visions of wealth—a realization of long deferred hopes—rose up to seduce him. It was a moment of trial as unexpected as it was terrible. The tempter conquered, and he fell. We can easily believe what he says to have been his subsequent impulse. After taking the packages from the depot, he hastened home, and sat down upon the step of his mother's dwelling, thought for a moment what a terrible crime he had committed, and then started back to replace the money. But hearing the car whistle which bore the empty valise away, retraced his course, and locked the fearful secret in his breast. His name we need not give. It will first its way soon enough into the public ear, and be spoken soon enough by unpitying lips.

[NOTE.—The Indianapolis Herald says that the young man alluded to is named Samuel Donlan, formerly an employe of the railroad company at Lafayette.]

A Sketchist in Alabama.

The Alabama Constitutional Convention, now in session at Montgomery, is composed of one hundred delegates, of whom sixteen are colored. Only one of the body is Conservative in politics, a fact explained by the almost unanimous action of the Conservative white voters in absenting themselves from the polls.

The New York World's correspondent at Montgomery describes the personnel of the Convention in a series of charcoal sketches, which are amusing. About thirty of the members are of Northern birth, the remainder of Alabama or other Southern nativity. From the sketches alluded to, we quote the following pen-potraits of the negro delegates:

"Ben Alexander, of Hale, a negro of the ordinary type of field hand.

"John Carroway is a light mulatto, with a 'back hair' of magnificent proportions. At its supreme altitude this ornament extends fully five inches straight out from the nape of the neck, forming a right angle very comely to the eye. Mr. Carroway is assistant editor of the Mobile Nationalist.

"Alfred Collins is a plain, clean-shaved middle aged divine, who was in the legislature of 1865.

"Thomas Diggs is a negro whose head is grizzled and whose hue is brown. He represents Barbour, and makes a beautiful cross mark when signing his name.

"Pompey Finley is a city negro, who once held the door open for members of that very chamber where he now sits as a delegate, and, if memory do not fail, I have for my poor self paid him, on a full day, tribute to the extent of thirty-five cents currency for a chair.

"James K. Green is a negro who takes the name of the master whose carriage he once drove. The name of the statesman does not appear on the signed list, from a modesty which withheld his sole signature, an X mark.

"Ovide Gregon is a light mulatto from Mobile, whose thin lips, keen cut jaws, and furtive eyes seem to body forth a Malay type of man.

"Wash. Johnson has the very blackest skin and the very worst signature of any patriot of the whole eighty-three. His hue is, without jest, a jet black, and his autograph, the sum total of his writing abilities, might stand equally well for Smith, or Van Landt, or Schemerhorn.

"Jordan Hatcher, of Dallas, is a grizzled negro of lightish hue, who, after an not unusual fashion, takes his former master's name.

"C. Jones is a yellow negro, who, on being called up to the Secretary's desk to register his name, expectorated with a refreshing abandon that provoked a general smile, and then made his mark.

"Thomas Lee, of Perry, is a negro who finds that it assists him very much in signing his name to lean his head quite on one side, and not be in a hurry about it. He is very black.

"Alfred Strother is a negro of intense blackness, and would have gone to sleep, at one time, in convention, but for a timely witticism which woke a laugh in the hall."

Articles of Agreement Between Coburn and McCoole.

Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.

CHICAGO, November 18.—The following articles of agreement were signed to-night:

"We, Joseph Coburn and Michael McCoole, do hereby enter into an agreement to meet and fight according to the new rules of the London prize ring, and to be strictly governed thereby, at a point within fifty miles of Cincinnati, Ohio, on Wednesday, the 27th of May, 1868, both parties to be informed of the time and place of meeting ten days before the time thereof.

"We do hereby confirm and indorse this agreement by placing in the hands of Frank Queen, of the city of New York, our first deposit of one thousand dollars each, the second deposit of two thousand dollars each to be placed in the hands of the said Frank Queen, who is hereby declared final stake holder, on Monday, March 2, 1868, and the third and last deposit, of two thousand dollars each, to be placed, as a final deposit, in the hands of the said Frank Queen, stake holder, on Thursday, April 2, 1868.

"Joseph Coburn to have choice of the ground; but he hereby agrees to notify said McCoole thereof ten days before the battle. The ropes and stakes are to be purchased, and the expense thereof to be equally divided between the parties to this agreement.

"Both parties shall share equally in the profits and expenses of the excursion train to the scene of the fight. A referee to be chosen on the ground, and, in case of any magisterial interference, he shall name the time and place for the next meeting.

"Both the parties making this agreement are to appear in the ring between the hours of twelve noon and three p.m. on the 27th day of May, 1868. The party failing to appear shall forfeit all claim to the battle-money.

"Signed and indorsed, this 18th of November, A. D. 1867.

JOSEPH COBURN,
MICHAEL MCCOOLE.

A New Era in Literature.

MR. FRANK LESLIE, one of the United States Commissioners to the Universal Exposition in Paris, has availed himself of his visit abroad to introduce a new and very interesting feature in his popular publications. He has arranged with some of the most eminent writers and artists of Europe to furnish for LESLIE'S NEWSPAPER and ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY, which appear simultaneously in this country, a series of stories and kindred matter, illustrated by original designs, that are called Advance Sheets, thus practically setting the example in addition by purchasing his correspondence three months in advance. This is a bold movement, and will prove to be a commendable one since Hannity is the best policy. The first of these novelettes is

THE PULMONIC BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY AND WOOD NAPTHA is a carefully compounded medicine, selected with the greatest care, and manufactured by the most skillful chemists. Dr. Williams, at his laboratory, in person, so that every component part is fresh and of sufficient healing virtue, and cannot fail to give satisfaction to all who use it. The great medicine, although a beautiful compound, is not a cosmetic, but a real, tried, and thoroughly reliable remedy, that acts effectually in the effects it is intended to cure, after each dose, curing it by assisting the blood to throw off the impurities, and not by stopping it. This is a bold statement, and will prove to be a commendable one since Honesty is the best policy. The first of these novelettes is

A CHANCE FOR MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to sell ONE-HALF INTEREST in our valuable establishment, situated on Cole's creek, four miles north of Florence, Alabama, consisting of Foundry, Machine Shop, Blacksmith Shop, Saw and Grist Mills,

This establishment has been in operation for over twenty years, and has at all times before the war not been able to supply the demand for work.

The establishment is driven by water and a seventy-horse stationery engine. There is in the machine shop three slide lathes, three iron planers, three upright drills, and all necessary fixtures for successful work.

The stock of patterns cannot be surpassed in the South. There is about one thousand acres of land belonging to the place, nearly all finely timbered. This property will be sold in order to close the business in other branches of manufacture, as the location and advantages possessed at this place demand more extensive improvements than we are able to supply.

Capitalists wishing to invest in a profitable enterprise of this kind, will address the undersigned at Florence, Alabama.

POLAND'S

MAGIC BILIOUS POWDERS

THIS PREPARATION is the discovery of the late J. W. POLAND, formerly the Pastor of the Methodist Church in the State of New Hampshire, and a man justly beloved by his denomination for the purity of his character. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his life, which he did.

MAGIC POWDERS

are one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. It is

THE GREAT LIVER & BILIOUS REMEDY!

Which completely throws in the shade all other discoveries in medicine; and it affords him much gratification that they receive the unanimous approbation of all who have tested them. The MAGIC BILIOUS POWDERS are a Positive Cure for Liver Complaint!

In its most aggravated form, and an immediate corrector of all

BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS!

Excellent for

HEADACHE, CONSTIPATION,

PIMPLES, BLOTCHES,
SALLA OW SKIN, DROWSINESS,
DIZZINESS, HEARTBURN,
PALPITATION,

And a most wonderful

Cure & Preventive of Fever & Ague!

(We advise all who are troubled with this fearful malady to always keep the Powders on hand ready for immediate use.)

Here are a few important particulars.

1st—They are the great Specific for all Bilious Affections.

2d—They are the only known remedy that will cure Liver Complaint.

3d—They are the only known remedy that will cure Constipation.

4th—The Powders are so thorough in their operation that a single dose will be all that the majority of those using them require to effect a cure.

5th—They are a mild and pleasant yet the most effectual purgative known.

6th—They are the cheapest and best medicine extant, as they can be sent by mail to any part of the globe for the price, 5 cents.

Circulars containing certificates, information, etc., sent to any part of the world free of charge.

VENDIG & BROTHER,

No 226 Main Street.

WE would call the attention of the public to the fact, that having entirely altered and improved our premises, we are desirous of selling out the present

Stock of Dry Goods

At prices which we do not publish for a "PUFF AND BLOW," but would simply ask of a discriminating public to come and

LOOK AT THE GOODS

And then judge for yourselves. Adhering for our motto, "Honesty is the best policy," we shall endeavor to give every satisfaction as to the value of what we sell. We do not, as is usual, say that good goods can be had at our store, but we do say that good goods can be had, that an intelligent public will soon see the difference between

WORDS AND ACTIONS.

Remember, EVERYTHING IS REDUCED IN PRICE, and having one of the largest stocks in the city, we are certain of being able to suit you with what you want. We also have very heavy stock of

LEGAL.

Trust Sale.

BY virtue of a deed of trust executed to me on the 26th day of April, 1866, by John Hagan and wife, to secure the payment of certain promissory notes therein described, and which deed of trust is of record in the Register's office of Shelby county, Tennessee, in Book No. 87, pages 247, 248 and 249, I will, on FRIDAY, the 29th day of November, 1867, at the hour of 12 m., at the door of the Court-house, on the premises, sell at public sale, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described real and personal property, to wit: That tract of land lying and being in the county of Shelby and State of Tennessee, about four miles from Memphis, on the Pigeon House road, containing about one hundred and fifty acres, more or less, fronting on the south side of the Pigeon House road at its intersection with Ozey Owen's avenue, and running back with said avenue to Owen's avenue, thence with said avenue to Walker's avenue, thence with said avenue to Ozey's avenue, thence with said avenue to the beginning; also the furniture bought by said John Hagan from C. L. Scruggs, about four miles from Memphis, on the Pigeon House road, containing about one hundred and fifty acres, fronting on the south side of the Pigeon House road at its intersection with Ozey Owen's avenue, thence with said avenue to Walker's avenue, thence with said avenue to Ozey's avenue, thence with said avenue to the beginning; also the furniture bought by said John Hagan from C. L. Scruggs, about four miles from Memphis, on the Pigeon House road, containing about one hundred and fifty acres, more or less, and being the same place formerly occupied by said Scruggs, and all the stock, farming utensils, household and kitchen furniture now owned or used by said Scruggs on said place, and which was conveyed to secure to said Scruggs the payments of forty-seven promissory notes, being part of the purchase money thereof, and all said furniture. This property, and encumbrances thereon, is more fully described in said deed of trust.

This sale is made for the purpose of paying off and discharging the notes secured by said deed of trust, and the surplus, if any there be, will be paid over to said John Hagan.

This October 29th, 1867.

F. P. WALKER, Jr., Trustee.

Trustee's Sale.

UNDER and by virtue of the power and authority conferred in me by a deed of trust executed by John H. Waggoner on the 1st day of April, 1867, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Shelby county, Tennessee, in book No. 87, pages 8, 9, 10 and 11, I will,

On Friday, the 29th day of November, 1867, between the hours of 12 m. and 3 p.m., on the premises, sell at public sale to the highest bidder for cash, the following described property, namely: Beginning at the south-west corner of lot No. 14, in subdivision No. 6, in the partition of the estate of Richard Carr, deceased, in the city of Memphis, Tennessee, said corner being from a point marked C, and Lorenzo avenue intersecting; thence northwardly with the west line of said lot No. 14, one hundred and sixty-five (165) feet, more or less, to a stake on the north line of Lorenzo avenue; thence eastwardly with the north line of said Lorenzo avenue, one hundred and thirty (130) feet, more or less, to a stake on the south line of Lorenzo avenue; thence southwardly one hundred and sixty-five (165) feet, more or less, to a stake on the south line of said subdivision No. 6; thence westwardly with the south line of said subdivision No. 6, one hundred and thirty (130) feet, more or less, to the beginning, being part of property in No. 6.

This property will be sold by me as trustee, to secure the payment of a note for eleven hundred dollars, due by Patrick O'Connor to Augustus J. Bicknell.

The title is perfect but I convey only as trustee.

A. J. ELLIOTT, Trustee.
